

COLLEGE VISITS

It is recognized that seniors may need to visit colleges or universities during the school year to discuss scholarships and other items with officials. These visits will normally be limited to two school days and will be considered school-related activities. For such visits, the following requirements must be met:

- * The student must schedule the activity in advance through a school counselor.
- * The school counselor will ensure that an appointment has been made with the appropriate officials at the university or college.
- * The student should be accompanied by a parent or responsible adult.
- * Upon return, the student must return documentation that the visit did occur.

Failure to adhere to these requirements will cause the absence to become unexcused.
